Dar Chabab Aknis Taroudant - Kingdom of Morocco

HOMENA Maroc
AND THE SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS

#16: Promote peaceful and inclusive societies for sustainable development

Social peace and Sustainable development: Our common challenge

Make human and social dignity a lever for the economic development of the province and the communities concerned, the country, the region, the continent while promoting two-way communication between public institutions and the population.

#10. Reduce inequality within and among countries

The new economic, political, social and environmental issues facing young and old, and more particularly the disadvantaged and marginalized, lead to legal expertise, information and training for the people of the Kingdom.

#4: Ensure inclusive and equitable quality education and promote lifelong learning opportunities for all

Collaboration and presence in Morocco

HOMENA works with partner organizations such as Partnership Network International (PNI) and Moroccan authorities to this common challenge.

#11: Make cities and human settlements inclusive, safe, resilient and sustainable

HOMENA addresses all audiences regardless of social status, religion, age, income or disability through the implementation of projects to enhance their dignity, resilience and social and professional inclusion.

For human dignity, social justice and sustainable development

Extent of work

A service of expertise facilitating the connection between citizens and their activities and public institutions.

Maintain social peace through the creation of regional branches. 7 regions are currently covered by the offices of Taroudant, Tiznit, Guelmim, Marrakech, Casablanca, Rabat, Agadir.

For example, HOMENA is committed to:

- Facilitate social justice through legal advice, contact with appropriate institutions, and the creation of workshops, discussion forum.
- Strengthen citizens' capacities by raising awareness and training on specific themes related to human rights and sustainable development.
- Participate in local, national and international discussion platforms.

Impact in the Kingdom of Morocco: example of workshops

HOMENA organizes workshops on Human Rights and Sustainable Development. These represent a privileged opportunity for social actors and Moroccan communities to significantly improve the understanding of human rights and sustainable development of their territory through the identification of tools necessary for good economic, social and cultural governance and / or environmental and strengthening the consultation and exchange of expertise accumulated by the various actors.
